On our coffee table this month are those two publishing giants, The New York Times and High Times. Sunday 12-3 deejay Bill Kelly is interviewed in October's issue of High Times about his long-running garage rock show. WFMU received complimentary mentions from John Pareles in the September 6 issue of the New York Times and from Bill Chen in the October issue of Option Magazine.

Pollution control will be reprinting WFMU general manager Ken Freedman's essay on the FCC and the first amendment from last summer's issue of Lowest Common Denominator. I'm sad to report that Mark Edwards and Pennie Stasik will be discontinuing the Pollution Control independent record pool and newsletter. They will be devoting their energies to Mark's band, My Dad Is Dead. Anyone interested in continuing Pollution Control can contact them at (216)-791-7286.

The fall edition of our program guide, Lowest Common Denominator, has just been printed. If you haven't received a copy, call, write, or send a carrier pigeon to get one.
