Station Manager Ken here to recap how the music department works here at FMU. David would tell you himself, but he took the week off to collect medical waste and watch Japanese porno movies.

David listens to all incoming recordings, and decides which ones should be entered into our library. About 80% get entered. All new recordings, whether they're CD's, LP's, cassettes or singles go into a priority area, or new bin, for their first four weeks in the library. During this first four weeks, the number of plays each recording gets is noted. At the end of four weeks, the plays are counted and entered into the computer. When we have four weeks worth of tabulated recordings, we put out a new playlist. The main difference between us and other station's playlists is that each recording appears only once on our playlist. After the first four weeks, all recordings are put into the main stacks. They still get played after that, but these plays don't get tabulated.

So that's how it works. What else is new... we're buying a new board and turntables for our studio, our first major studio purchases in over ten years... we're taking advantage of this week of cool weather to scrape spent DJ's off the walls and brace ourselves for the next heatwave...we're all watching the unfolding Dan Quayle scandal with interest, but we're waiting until the week before the November election to leak the unsettling news that Mike Dukakis' cousin Olympia actually LISTENS TO WFMU..that should clinch a Republican victory in the Fall, which is what we're rooting for, after all. It would be a real shame if the economic shit hit the fan after Reagan leaves office and the Democrats had to take the heat for it. But forgive me. I ramble.

David's office hours are a changin'. He will be working all day Tuesdays from 8:30 AM till 9:30 PM, and Fridays from 4:30 PM till 9:30 PM. Bye.

-Ken Freedman, Station Mgr
