Jeff Feuerzeig

PRESS RELEASE:

Please pass along the following information:

Strangely enough, PBS is considering funding a documentary film about 1/2 Japanese, to be entitled 1/2 Japanese: The Band That Would Be King. The film, directed by Jeff Feuerzeig, is half completed at present, and out of funds. Jeff is trying to get PBS to kick in the additional funds needed to complete the film. While he has some support within the Public Television community, he was told that letters of support for this type of programming would be helpful in securing the $$$$. He was also told that if the letters came in from around the country, rather than just the northeast, that this would make his case stronger. So if you feel that documentary films about 1/2 Japanese are the type of programming that belongs on Public Television, please make these views known to Steve Lama at PBS. His address is 1320 Braddock Place; Alexandria, VA 22314. Let him know who you are, where you're from, and what you think.

If you discount the war, the recession and WFMU's ongoing F.C.C. battle, I suppose it's not too late to wish you a Happy New Year. 1990 was pretty strange...our survival was threatened by 3 other non-commercial stations attempting to increase their coverage area at our expense...but we were able to raise $270,000 through our on-air fund-drive and benefit concerts to dig trenches for our border skirmish. And on the really strange side, WFMU was mentioned in the liner notes of the Frank Sinatra Reprise box set, our bathroom decor was described in Rolling Stone magazine, and not once was our transmitter hit by lightning. And, oh yeah, Spin magazine picked us in their top 5 college stations in the country.

This year...our legal war rages on. On February 1, we'll be submitting our 7 year license renewal which will likely be met with more of our opponents' wacky protests, only this time rather than asking the F.C.C. to cut our power, they'll be asking that we cease our broadcasting altogether. This year's fund-drive, perhaps even more dire than last years', will take place April 8-21, and we'll be setting up more benefit concerts starting in the Spring.

If you haven't gotten the winter edition of our program guide, Lowest Common Denominator, just give a call. The best time to reach me for record company and promotion calls is on Thursdays 10-6:00 EST.
